Welcome to Fall 2010

WELCOMING MESSAGES:

Welcome from the Dean

As Dean of the Associate Degree Program, I want to welcome all new and returning students to the Doheny campus. A new academic year of ten fills students and faculty members with feelings of both excitement and apprehension. Please know that our faculty and staff are here to help you to find your way and make your college life a success.

We are blessed with a beautiful pastoral environment in which to work and study. Our historic architecture and gorgeous trees provide an urban oasis for thought and reflection. During this first week, I would encourage you to allow our environment to give you both serenity and energy as you embark on this fall semester at Mount St. Mary's College.

Have a great academic year,

Dr. Patricia Disterhoft

Greetings to all new and returning MSMC students! We hope you enjoyed your summer and are looking forward to starting the new school year! College can be a fun yet stressful time with many changes to anticipate. You're starting anew, often times leaving behind your home, friends, family and school to adjust to an entirely new environment. Living independently, making new friends, and achieving academic success can be challenging tasks to face. Here are some helpful tips on ways to cope with some of these transitions:

- Give yourself an opportunity to slowly adjust to your new academic load and college life. Be patient with yourself and others.
- Manage your time and try spreading out assignments over a certain amount of time. This way you'll feel less overwhelmed when it's crunch time.
- Set specific and reachable goals for yourself. Put things on a list that you can accomplish. If your list is unreasonable, it may end up making you feel less productive.
- Meet new friends and have fun. Set some time aside for yourself whether you need some "alone" time or you want to be with your friends.
- Get some help if you're feeling stressed. Talking things out will help relieve some pressure and know that CPA (Counseling and Psychological Services) is available if you need someone to talk to! Our services are free and confidential!
- Try deep breathing exercises to help you relax and clear your mind. Get a good night's rest.
- Don't be so hard on yourself!

Did you know that “aka” stands for “also known as”?

Did you know that almost all of us worry about money matters but have never really studied the basic principles about banking and credit, budgeting, saving, and investing. So why not make a little time for study so you can leave your money worries behind?

We have a one unit class at Doheny that covers these topics and more. In our fall term, it meets on Thursday from 1:00 – 2:00. There is room for a few more students to enroll. Why not do it now and you'll learn (at our very first class) how The Richest Man in Babylon became the richest man.

After a month of fasting and spiritual renewal, Muslims throughout the world mark the end of Ramadan with a celebration known as Eid al-Fitr. Mount St. Mary's marks this occasion by inviting you to a lunchtime film screening and post-film dialogue.

This documentary explores the expertly gathered opinions of Muslims around the globe as revealed in the world's first major opinion poll, conducted by Gallup, the preeminent polling organization.

Gallup researchers began by asking the questions on every American's mind. Why is there so much anti-Americanism in the Muslim world? Who are the extremists and how do Muslims feel about them? What do Muslims like and dislike about the West? What do Muslim women really want?

Feeling Homesick?

Feeling homesick is a natural feeling. Adjusting to a new campus, roommate, expectations, courses, and routine takes a fair amount of time and patience. By nature, we tend to resist change and struggle to hold on to familiar surroundings like the comforts of home, family, and friends. If you're struggling to beat the blues, here are eleven homesickness helpers to pick you up.

1. Admit that you have it. Much of what you know and can rely on is back at home and homesickness is a natural response to this sense of loss.
2. Talk about it with family or friends who have also gone away from home. In this way you can recognize that this is a common occurrence which will help normalize the experience.

3. Bring familiar items from home to your new location. Photos, plants, even stuffed animals help to give one a sense of continuity and ease the shock of a new environment.

4. Familiarize yourself with your new surroundings. Walk around. You will feel more in control if you know where buildings, classes, and services are.

5. Invite people along to explore. Making friends is a big step to alleviating homesickness.

6. Seek new opportunities. As scary as it is to see all those people, all those classes, all those activities, all those choices, they will provide opportunities to meet people who like what you like.

7. Plan a date to go home and make arrangements. This often helps curtail impulsive returns and keeps you focused on your goals in staying.

8. Examine your expectations. We'd all like to be popular, well-dressed, well-organized and well-adjusted, which we are not much of the time! Setting a goal of perfection is the most predictable way of creating trouble for yourself. Laugh at your mistakes. We are always learning!!

9. Do something. Don't wait for it to go away by itself. Buried problems often emerge later disguised as headaches, fatigue, illness, or lack of motivation.

Talk to a counselor. Speaking to someone is sometimes helpful and can be a great place to vent and problem solve.

CPS's service is free and confidential.

A New Face at Career Services & Community Engagement!

An interview introducing a new member in the MSMC Community between Kim Terrill, Assistant Director, and Ankur Kumar, your new Graduate Assistant

How long have you been at MSMC?

Kim: I have been with the college since 2003 and I have worked with Career Services & Community Engagement for the past 5 years.

Why do you continue to stay?

Kim: I love working with MSMC students! College is a very exciting time in life and it is an honor to be a part of that experience. I love working at a small campus where I can get to know all the students. The best part of my job is knowing that I have helped someone achieve their goals.

What's new in the Career Center?

Kim: Our newest addition to the Doheny Career Center is our Graduate Assistant Ankur Kumar! He started working with Career Services and Community Engagement this semester and he is here on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. I hope that the students have a chance to stop by the office and meet him.

Who are you?

Ankur: I work with Kim Terrill in the Career Services office. USC graduate student earning my M.ED. in Higher Education Counseling.

Why are you at MSMC?

Ankur: I love the campus, motivated students, and think career services is vital for student success during and after graduation. I like Kim's upbeat, positive personality and knowledge of the field, and I am happy to work with her.

What do you think of the students, faculty, staff, and campus in the little time you've been here?

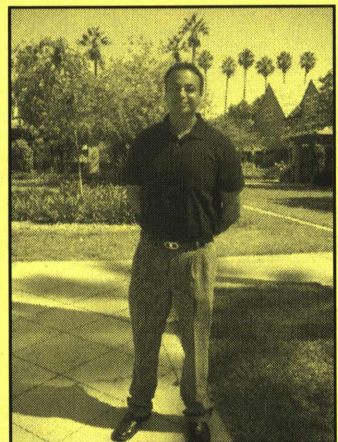

Ankur: I love the beauty of our campus, I find that faculty and staff are very helpful, student-centered, and supportive of one another. The students with whom I've worked are diverse, intelligent, and dedicated to educational and career success.

What goals or hopes do you have for your time here?

Ankur: Meet more students! Come to our office and we'll set up an appointment. I want to help students develop quality resumes and cover letters, and understand your interests so we can explore career avenues down the line.

For your life in general?

Ankur: Counsel at-risk students to achieve their goals. Be a great mentor for my 9-year old brother. Improve my spiritual strength and use it to guide young people in the creative arts. Be someone my family can depend on, and travel to adventurous places with my close ones.

So Athenians, stop by and give a warm welcome to the newest member of the

From the Religious Studies Department

On Thursday, October 7, the Religious Studies Department will be screening the film, "Finding God in the City of Angels" at the Chalon Campus. Commentary and discussion will be lead by Professors Rosamond Rodman and Randal Cummings. All students, staff, and faculty are invited to attend this complimentary film screening in Hannon Theater in the Humanities Building from 4:00-7:00pm.

Synopsis of Film:

Celebrating the multicultural diversity of spiritual life in Los Angeles, "Finding God in the City of Angels" explores the various ways in which different communities engage their sacred texts or "scriptures," whether in worship, prayer, song, dance, performance, art, storytelling, or ministry: from a small Skid Row church in downtown Los Angeles to a massive Chinese Buddhist temple in Hacienda Heights; from an Orthodox Jewish synagogue on Venice Beach to an alternative religious group that meets in a hair salon in Inglewood; from the first Indigenous Peoples of Los Angeles to the diverse ways in which different communities live their "scriptures."

TIP OF THE WEEK

by Counseling & Psychological Services

Feeling depressed? Anxious? Stuck? Emotions like these may be interfering with your schoolwork, your relationships, and life in general. Depression is very treatable. One way to treat depression is to find out if the way you are thinking is working for or against you. We all make assumptions about the world, people, and ourselves. In the case of depression, our assumptions are often based on the fear that we won't get our needs met, such as our need to feel loved, to be able to trust others, and to believe that the future will turn out well. Negative and positive thoughts about these things can profoundly affect our emotions and behaviors. CPS (1st Floor of McIntyre, x2668) can help you recognize and shift your negative thought patterns.

On October 12th come TEST YOUR MOOD as part of National Depression Screening Day from 11:30am-2pm.

Synopsis of Film:

Celebrating the multicultural diversity of spiritual life in Los Angeles, "Finding God in the City of Angels" explores the various ways in which different communities engage their sacred texts or "scriptures," whether in worship, prayer, song, dance, performance, art, storytelling, or ministry: from a small Skid Row church in downtown Los Angeles to a massive Chinese Buddhist temple in Hacienda Heights; from an Orthodox Jewish synagogue on Venice Beach to an alternative religious group that meets in a hair salon in Inglewood; from the first Indigenous Peoples of Los Angeles to the diverse ways in which different communities live their "scriptures."

From the Office of Community Engagement and the Department of Justice
 October is Domestic Violence
 Awareness Month
 1 in 4 women will experience
 Domestic Violence in her lifetime
 Break The Silence – Stop The Violence

The cycle of violence in domestic abuse
 Domestic abuse falls into a common pattern, or cycle of violence:

Abuse – Your abusive partner lashes out with aggressive, belittling, or violent behavior. The abuse is a power play designed to show you "who is boss."

Guilt – After abusing you, your partner feels guilt, but not over what was done. Your partner is more worried about the possibility of being caught and facing consequences for the abusive behavior.

Excuses – Your abuser rationalizes what he/she has done. The person may come up with a string of excuses or blame you for the abusive behavior—anything to avoid taking responsibility.

"Normal" behavior – The abuser does everything he/she can to regain control and keep the victim in the relationship. The abuser may act as if nothing has happened, or may turn on the charm. This peaceful honeymoon phase may give the victim hope that the abuser has really changed this time.

Fantasy and planning – Your abuser begins to fantasize about abusing you again, including spending a lot of time thinking about what you've done wrong and how you'll be made to pay. Then your abuser makes a plan for turning the fantasy of abuse into reality.

Set-up – Your abuser sets you up and puts the plan in motion, creating a situation where he/she can justify abusing you.

Your abuser's apologies and loving gestures in between the episodes of abuse can make it difficult to leave. Your abuser may make you believe that you are the only person who can help, that things will be different this time, and that he/she truly loves you. However, the dangers of staying are very real.

Being Aware of Intimate Partner Violence

Intimate partner violence (IPV) happens between two people in a close relationship. IPV can occur in one single episode of violence to ongoing battering. Many victims suffer physical injuries but not all injuries are physical. IPV often starts with emotional abuse and victims often experience low self esteem as a result. They may have a hard time trusting others and being in relationships.

Warning Signs:

- Extreme jealousy or insecurity exhibited by partner
- Constant put-downs
- Possessiveness or acting like they own you and telling you what to do
- Being checked up on, constantly called, or secretly watched by partner
- Explosive temper
- Making false accusations
- Isolating you from friends and family
- Fearing your partner
- Having dramatic arguments, breakups, and reconciliations

Intimate Partner Violence Healthy Relationship Quiz

1. Is your partner extremely jealous or possessive? Do they accuse you of flirting or cheating on them? Do they constantly check up on you or always make you check in with you?
2. Does your partner tell you how to dress or how much makeup to wear?
3. Does your partner try to control what you do and who you see? Do they try to keep you from seeing or talking to your family and friends?
4. Does your partner have big mood swings where one minute they are angry and yelling at you and the next minute they are sweet and apologetic and say they can't live without you? Do you often feel like you're "walking on eggshells" around them?
5. Does your partner put you down or criticize you and make you feel like you can't do anything right or that no one else would want you?
6. Does your partner yell, grab, shove, punch, slap, hold you down, throw things or hurt you in any way?
7. Does your partner threaten to hurt you or somebody you care about (like themselves, your family, your friends or your pets)?
8. Does your partner force or pressure you into having sex or going further than you want to?

If you answered yes to some of these questions, your relationship may not be as healthy as you deserve. An important step to take once you realize you are in an abusive relationship is to make sure you talk to someone you trust such as clergy, friends or family members. You can also speak to someone at ...

With Thanksgiving just around the corner, it's a great time to start thinking about gratitude. Gratitude is an emerging focus in the study of mental health. Those who practice gratitude report higher levels of physical health, cope better when faced with stress, and are more resilient when challenges arise. People who are purposefully grateful feel more connected to others, feel positive emotions more intensely, and are more optimistic. You can develop the practice of gratitude by writing a gratitude list, expressing your thanks to other people, and thinking about what makes you grateful.

Tips of the Month:

How to make New Year's resolutions that work!

It's that time of year again when people resolve to do something better or different next year. It's also the time of the year many people make resolutions that are bound to fail. But they don't have to. Making realistic, simple resolutions by following six simple steps can lead to a greater chance of success in the upcoming year. For the month of January, you'll get two new tips a week to create New Year's resolutions that will work!

1. Be realistic in your goals. Choose one goal, then break it down into smaller, more manageable bits. For example, if you want to save $1,000, think about it in terms of saving $20 per paycheck. That makes your goal less intimidating. Every time you save some money, praise yourself. Rewarding yourself for every positive step will help you have the confidence you need to hang in there.

2. Start with a plan and stick to it. Studies show that people who make impulsive resolutions are less likely to stick to them. Think about what is most important to you and create strategies to deal with the problems and setbacks that will come up as you move towards your goal. Tracking your progress will help as well; the more you monitor and praise yourself, the more likely you are to succeed.

3. Team up with a friend or loved one. Make a list of your goals and share them with a friend or loved one. You are now accountable to two people: yourself and the other person. You will also get a sense of satisfaction from helping your friend accomplish his or her goals, too. Such an informal pact can help hold your feet to the fire when you feel discouraged or want to give up — they can offer you some encouragement and support (and you can do likewise).

4. Look at the bright side and allow yourself mistakes. Focusing on the positive side of things will give you more energy and enthusiasm to pursue your goals. People who believe that they can succeed are more likely to do so. For example, praise yourself for losing five pounds, but don't punish yourself for gaining one back. You will reach your goal more easily if you accentuate the positive. Don't beat yourself up if you don't accomplish the small goals you set for yourself, or if one day you "fall off the wagon" or mess up. Remind yourself that every day is a new day and an opportunity to try again.

5. Think of resolutions as opportunities to try new things. Resolutions are a time of the year not only to try and "fix" the problems in your life, but also to try out a new way of being, a new activity or hobby, or a new attitude. Resolutions should not seem like punishments; if you try to make them fun, you will be more likely to stick with them. If your goal is to be healthier, try going for a 10-minute walk before work and enjoying your neighborhood. Think of January first as a chance to adopt a healthier lifestyle, not as the start of a period of denial.

6. Try, try again. If you don't succeed at first, don't be discouraged. Not many people are able to reach their goals on the first try. Try again! There's no shame in not succeeding on our first try and although it may be a little discouraging, it doesn't have to be an excuse to stop.

For more help with planning your goals for the upcoming year or other issues, contact Counseling and Psychological Services (CPS) at (213) 477-2668.

Thank you for your donation of Christmas Gifts!

Every year in December, the Child Development Center staff has a Winter Party for all of the children and their families. "Santa Claus" makes a special appearance and brings a toy for every child in our program. "Santa Claus" is Mark Forte, our Doheny Learning Resource Center Director. The toys are donated by Mr. Warren Ackerman. In representation of Mr. Ackerman, Fred Kemmerling delivers all the toys and participates in the event. After every child gets an opportunity to sit with "Santa" and get his/her toy, the families have a potluck party. The families are encouraged to bring a potluck dish that represents their culture. While the families share their potluck items and network, we have various raffles. The Parent Advisory Committee raffles off items and the Christmas trees donated by Doheny ASB, Clubs & Orgs. All are raffled off among families who do not have a tree at home for Christmas. As families start to leave the party, Mark Forte, Terry Lopez (CDC secretary) and I distribute the "Adopt-A-Family" gifts to each family. The Adopt-A-Family gifts come from various MSMC departments who donate them. Families are very appreciative and shed tears of joy as they receive these blessings!

This Week with Campus Ministry

CANDLEMAS is this week

Candles serve as a constant and worthy reminder to us of God's presence in our lives. They are a gentle tap on the shoulder that, from that small flame, can come warmth, comfort, illumination — everything we could ever possibly need or desire. Their presence also reminds us that just as Christ is light for us, we must also serve as light for others.

On February 2, 40 days after Christmas, the Church celebrates the feast of Jesus' presentation in the Temple (Candlemas Day) and his recognition there by Simeon as "a light of revelation to the gentiles" (see Luke 2:32).

From "A Glowing Reminder of Christ's Presence"

Susan Hines-Brigger <http://www.americancatholic.org/Messenger/Feb2006/traditions.asp>

In celebration of Candlemas, take a moment this week to show gratitude to those who have been a "Christ-light" for you, for whom you are especially thankful, someone who has made a difference in your life.

TREASURES OF TURKEY MAY 16-MAY 27, 2011

Turkey combines East and West into a travel destination like no other, from the great mosques, early Christian basilicas, sprawling bazaars and the history-laden streets of Istanbul to the magical sculpted rock landscapes of Cappadocia. There are the ancient Greek and Roman ruins like Hierapolis and Aphrodisias that we will explore. You will have an opportunity to relax on the "Turkish Riviera" along Turkey's southwest coast, an area rich in archaeological sites, scenic beauty and pristine beaches.

A day in Istanbul will include the Hagia Sophia, the Blue Mosque, the 6th century Basilica Cistern and dinner sitting outside looking at Asia across the Bosphorus. Another day will be devoted to discovering Topkapi Palace, once the massive center of the Ottoman government and court, and then strolling modern Istanbul's cosmopolitan heart, the Pera District along with a visit the exotic Spice Bazaar.

For more information about this unique travel experience open to the entire Mount community and offered through the Weekend College contact kwhitman@msmc.la.edu or view the brochure at <http://www.msmc.la.edu/Include/Aweekendsyllabi/turkey2011.pdf>.

Spring Tips for Healthy Living

Healthy Eating: Trouble eating healthy when you are busy and on the run? Try deli-style restaurants where you can order a sub sandwich rather than a cheeseburger. You can always limit your portion and forget those french fries on the side and opt instead for some fruit or salad!

Exercise: Make exercise a priority in your day. If you don't have time to go to the gym or fitness center, consider taking the stairs rather than the elevator. Or consider getting off one or two bus stops earlier and walking.

Stress Relief: Effective stress control results in the enhancement of both mental and physical well-being. Exercise and practice of relaxation methods are the best ways to keep chronic stress in check. Perhaps it isn't always realistic to take a jog or a meditation break every time you're faced with a stressful situation. Remember you can always sit, close your eyes, relax your muscles and take a few minutes to practice slow and deep breathing.

Healthy Living and Sleep

Understanding sleep is very important because we spend at least a quarter of our life asleep! Sleeping well is essential for health and stress management. Sleep helps boost your immune system, improves your memory to better facilitate learning and improves your mood so you feel less anxious and/or irritable. The following is a list of Do's and Don'ts to help improve your sleep quality:

Do:

- Go to bed when you are tired and not before.
- Try to get up from bed at the same time each day.
- Get regular exercise each day, preferably in the morning.
- Get regular exposure to outdoor or bright lights, especially in the late afternoon.
- Keep the bedroom temperature comfortable and dark and quiet to facilitate sleeping.
- Use your bed primarily for sleep only.
- Use a relaxation exercise just before going to sleep like muscle relaxation, visual imagery, massage, warm bath, etc.

Don't:

- Exercise just before going to bed.
- Have caffeine, nicotine, or alcohol in the evening.
- Read or watch television in bed.
- Go to bed too hungry or too full.
- 5. Take daytime naps.
- Command yourself to go to sleep.
- This only makes your mind and body more alert.

Archbishop Romero

The 31st Anniversary of the martyrdom of Archbishop Oscar Romero will be commemorated on March 24, 2011. As we honor the life and legacy of Archbishop Romero, we encourage you to pray this prayer service we are sending to you. He was a man who lived the gospel and knew that one day he would give his life for Jesus and his people. We recall his courage in striving to implement peace amidst the turmoil of war and destruction. We remember his example in challenging injustice in our world.

"The best way to remember St. Oscar Romero is to do what we can, serve those in need, advocate for justice, speak up for peace, and follow the non-violent Jesus. In that way, Romero rises in us, Christ rises in us, God's reign is welcomed and our resurrection is assured."

Body Image

How do you feel about your body? How do you see yourself when you look in the mirror? If you responded negatively to either of these questions, you are not alone.

While we may all have days we feel dissatisfied or uncomfortable in our bodies, it is important to appreciate and respect our bodies and disconnect body image from self-worth. Here are some suggestions to help you to experience your body in a more positive and accepting way:

Stop criticizing yourself in the mirror. The body you see in the mirror maintains and nourishes your life on this planet. Treat it with the respect and love it deserves. Recognize that our bodies come in many different shapes and sizes and focus on the things you love about your body.

Think about all of the things you are missing out on with the time and energy spent on worrying about your body. Don't let body shape concerns prevent you from participating in activities you love.

Refuse to accept criticism from anyone about your body—including yourself! Challenge any negative thoughts you may have about your body with positive affirmations. Tell others that body criticism has a negative effect on self esteem and poisons the trust and security in your relationship.

Find friends who are not overly concerned or critical about weight or appearances. Surround yourself with positive people who appreciate you and your inner strengths.

View social and media messages about appearance critically. Challenge the truthfulness of images that depict men and women without any physical flaws. Seek out and show support for media images that promote positive messages about differences in body shape.

Wear clothes that make you feel good about your body and reflect your personal style. Learn to appreciate the way your favorite clothes feel and look on you.

Find a method of exercise that you enjoy and do it regularly. Learn to see exercise as a great way to improve your health and strength instead of a way to "control" or "fight" your body.

Read or watch something other than the popular media.

Do You Need a Self-Esteem Makeover?

Here are some essentials you will need to do it!

Count your blessings. You have a lot of things to be thankful for: such as a home, friends you enjoy, a sunny day, the knowledge you've acquired - even things like shoes, a coat. Many people don't have these things.

Are you continually playing negative tapes in your mind? Eject them and insert new tapes! You may have to make a conscious effort. When the critical tape starts playing, picture yourself hitting the "stop" button and insert a new, positive tape.

Do not use your weight or appearance to measure your self-worth. What does appearance have to do with self-worth? Your self-worth is the sum of everything that makes you special and unique - not just your thigh and waist measurements! Add up your assets, talents, how you treat others, how you treat yourself, and the contributions you make to your family, friends and community. Now you have self-worth.

Don't use "all or nothing" thinking. No one is a "total" failure. Just because you sometimes make a mistake or take a wrong path does not make you a "total" failure. It makes you human and helps you make better decisions the next time around.

Strut your stuff! Shine! Show the world your talents; we all have them. Stop focusing so much on your deficits and weaknesses. Capitalize on your strengths and showcase them!

Our basic core needs have to be fulfilled in order to feel physically and emotionally healthy. Being clear about what you need and making efforts to meet those needs constructively means you'll naturally have better self esteem.

This is useful list of basic human needs:

The need to give to and receive from others attention and recognition

The need to look after your body

The need for meaning, purpose and goals

The need for a connection to something greater than ourselves

The need for creativity and stimulation

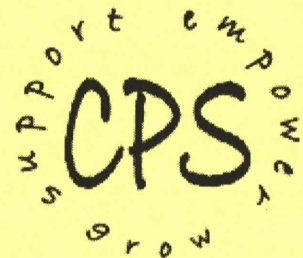

The need for intimacy and connection to others

The need for a sense of control

The need for a sense of safety and security

So try to build on your solid foundation and to foster any and all your basic needs in one way or another!

Se<sup>x</sup>ual Assault Awareness Month

Sexual Assault Awareness Month is intended to draw attention to the fact that sexual violence is widespread and has public health implications for every community member. Rape, sexual assault, and sexual harassment impact our community as seen by statistics indicating that one in five women will have experienced sexual assault by the time they complete college (Fisher, Cullen, & Turner, ).

We must work together to educate our community about what can be done to prevent sexual assault and how to support survivors. We encourage every person to speak out when witnessing acts of violence however small. With leadership, dedication, and encouragement, there is compelling evidence that we can be successful in reducing sexual violence through prevention education, increased awareness, and holding perpetrators who commit acts of violence responsible for their actions.

We ask you to strongly support the efforts of every citizen to actively engage in public and private efforts, including conversations about what sexual violence is, how to prevent it, how to help survivors connect with services, and how every segment of our society can work together to better address sexual violence.

Crunch Time!!

Finals are looming, right along with the stress, anxiety, and nights spent in the library that accompanies them. It's easy to get caught up in the tension. What can you do? If you notice feeling tired and drained, here are some tips that may help you try to relax and regroup.

Exercise Take study breaks to work out, whether it's a walk or run around campus or some cardio on the machines. Breaking a sweat will help you keep your schedule and time management intact and give your mind a nice breather so you're ready to tackle the rest of your work.

Communicate Talk to people you trust like a friend, roommate or a family member about thoughts and feelings that may be weighing you down. And if you can't get hold of anyone, write out how you feel! Writing may provide the same relief talking does.

Alone time 10 minutes a day of quiet reflection or meditation can significantly help you control your stress, decrease anxiety, improve cardiovascular health, and achieve a greater capacity for relaxation. The easiest way to meditate is when you wake up, get out of bed, stretch a little, and sit somewhere comfortable in a cross-legged or lotus position, and gently place your hands in your lap, one on top of the other, with thumbs touching. Focus on your breathing and don't worry if your mind wanders, that's natural! Try thinking one positive thought, like "I can conquer this day" or "I know I am capable of anything."

Using some of these tips will hopefully help ease the sting of stress during the final haul of classes, and when all else fails, just remember to breathe and reboot! Also, stop by Easter Eggstravaganza on the Doheny Campus, April 26, 11:30-2:30pm to participate in stress-relieving activities like making arts/crafts and petting precious animals!

DENIM DAY

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 2011

DO YOU KNOW WHY WE WEAR JEANS TO SUPPORT SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS?

Jeans became an international symbol of protest in 1999 when an Italian Supreme Court decided to overturn a rape conviction because the victim wore tight jeans. The justices reasoned that the victim must have helped her attacker remove her jeans, which they felt implied consent. Within hours the women of the Italian Parliament launched into immediate action and protested by wearing jeans to work. This call to action caught on and now people all over the world wear jeans to say "there is no excuse and never an invitation to rape".

Sponsored by: Community Engagement, Chalon and Doheny ASB, the Chalon Psychology Club and a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice.

Personal Finance,

Bus 093 Thursdays 1—2pm

Here's what one student recently wrote:

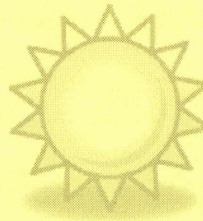

I believe that other students, specially being college students, should take this class because at this age, we believe that we know how to manage our money when in reality, we do not. It is a step of being independent and having control of our own money, so we might as well learn how to do it the right way. I learned a lot about how to handle my own money, but I also learned a lot about the kind of person I am.

A PRAYER for FINALS

O GOD,
It seems as though our lives are one test after another, weighing us in somebody's balance.
Save us from taking the coming tests too seriously or too lightly, but grant that we may reflect the best of the work we've done and the best of the teaching we've received.
Amen.

Visit the Academic Advisement page and Complete an ADVISOR EVALUATION and your entire major department could WIN an ICE CREAM PARTY! *

*Ice Cream party will be held at the end of the academic year in April 2011, after we compile the evaluation results for the year.
